PRESIDENT'S NAVY SECRETS ARE BARED

MC CUMBER LETS
LOOSE TIRADE ON SEPARATE PEACE

LODGE CALLS UP RESOLU-TION PREPARATORY
TO FINAL VOTE.

WILSON SCORED

Class Legislation and Autocratic ic President Flayed in Address.

(By ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Washington, May 11.—The republican resolution to declare the war with Germany and Austria-Hungary was called up in the senate today by Senator Lodge, Massachusetts
the national leader, who announced that he would keep the measure continuously before the senate until a vote was taken.

Senator Lodge said he expected a vote within a few days and added that to expedite consideration of the resolution he might ask the senate to hold longer sessions than usual.

Opening the fight against the republican plan to end the state of war
by joint resolution of congress, Senator McCumber, North Dakota, republican member of the senate foreign relations committee, declared that such a step would bring dishonor upon the nation as it would involve desertion of America's associates in the war.

Urge Trade Relations
The senator said he could support
neither the just peace resolution
nor the substitute by Senator Knox, republican, Pennsylvania. He advocated instead his resolution proposing restoration of commercial relations with Germany.

"This administration has made many mistakes but all will become intelligence compared with the colossal blunder of making the president's individual and autocratic
status on the league of nations a political issue. And, partisan as we are,
I confess even now a deep sense of sympathy for the humiliation that awaits the great party which with all its weaknesses has subsumed a great purpose in our national history."

League Issue Not Supreme

"You cannot make the league of nations the real issue in our campaign. If it were the real and only issue I would be greatly concerned for the success of my own party."

"The thought of the people of this country is engrossed with the complexities that surround us. We are at this moment surrounded by a thousand imminent dangers demanding our immediate attention and solution. We stand almost helpless while debts are piling mountain high."

The atmosphere is poisoned with socialisms, infections, breath, while anarchy, fevered by hate and envy, awaits only the opportunity to work
a rain of hell. Each day is consuming as Russia. This is consuming Glass Legislation.

"The war is not the cause of this threatened situation. The American people today are the victims of a new system of purchasing political support by means of class legislation.
The American people are the victims of a policy, surrendering the interests of the unorganized and ineffective mass to subserve the demands of the organized and effective few."

"The American people are looking forward for relief. They want to get back to normal conditions and try to accomplish it by an overwhelming vote in the next elections for a change in administration and they will do this, treaty or no treaty,
peace resolution or no peace resolution, league of nations, or no league of nations."

Only by a treaty, he said, can questions arising from the war be settled.

Many Claims Unsettled

Many grievances arising from the treaty by Germany in maintaining an armistice, 450,000 men and falling to deliver war material, Senator McCumber said:

"We are saying (by this resolution) to France and England: 'You make Germany comply with our agreement.' That is not enough. That we have started our cause and thereby condemned it, is far worse. The position we are placing our country in is a shameful one and I can never support it by my vote."

President Is Responsible

"I recognized that the president is more responsible than any one man
for this failure to enter into a common treaty. He knew that the senate had a right to make reservations.
He should have accepted them and our allied would have adopted them.
We refused to join the resolution in submitting the agreement, but when we seek to compel Germany to assure us all of the benefits and all of the rights which would accrue to us, we decline to accept any of the responsibilities of the treaty."

"No argument, no matter how cunningly devised, can hide the dormitory involved in this curse."

She Resists Cupid's Darts

Mrs. Guy Chetwynd, American beauty who obtained a divorce from Sir George Guy Chetwynd in 1909, has turned a deaf ear to Cupid's pleas since. She was formerly Rosamund Secor, daughter of Charles Secor.

ALLIED TROOPS DANIELS EXPLOITS
STAY IN TURKEY SIMS OPPOSITION

Peace Pact Is Handed to Representatives of Sultan Was U. S. Idea.

(By ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Washington, May 11.—Permanent occupation of Constantinople by the Turkish forces of the sultan, by the force of allied troops, is proposed in the treaty handed today to Turkish representatives at Paris. An official summary of the treaty has been received in Washington. A summary of the international group proposed for the straits as a guarantee of free passage through the Dardanelles and the sea of Marmora to ships of all nations.

An inter-allied commission of competent naval officers will supervise the execution of the treaty and the action of the inter-allied troops entitled to its terms.

Although President Wilson suggested that part of northeastern Thrace be given Bulgaria, Thrace is entirely awarded to Greece. Smyrna and the island of Lemnos are given to Greece. Limited sovereignty is given to Greece.

The plan was conceived by the sultan, he said, to avoid fighting and bring about a peaceful change of government with free elections to be held later. Incidentally, it is asserted the revolutionary leaders of the sultan's party, who had been in the lead in the revolution, are to be given a chance to rule.

At the age of 24 he was appointed by President Lincoln as United States consul at Venice. He combined his consular duties with literary work, and produced his celebrated book: "Venetian Life."

Four years later, in 1865, he came to New York with his wife, who was Eliza G. Mead of Vermont, and whom he married in Paris in 1868. For two years he wrote editorials for the New York Nation, the Times and the Tribune, and then moved to Boston, where as assistant editor he began his association with James T. Fields, who was editor in 1875. At the age of 44 he retired to devote himself to his novels, which he produced for many years.

When 50 years old, Mr. Secor had given three thousand dollars to the Boston library, and later wrote for the "Editor's Easy Chair" department in Harper's Magazine. For a brief period he acted as editor of the Cosmopolitan.

Kansas City, May 11.—John La-culo, whose disclosure of the threat of Pietro Pieri, a fellow Italian, to kill a high federal official during the war, resulted in Pieri's trial and conviction, has had his sentence to imprisonment next week to be commuted. In addition, he has been granted a pardon of the death sentence.

He was granted a pardon of the death sentence by the Kansas penitentiary at that time, had confided to him that he had been chosen by lot from among a band of anarchists in Chicago to make way for the revolution. Pieri is now at large on bond. He is facing deportation proceedings.

New York, May 11.—William Dean Howells, the novelist, died here today. At a dinner given in New York in 1912 to do honor to William Dean
Howells upon his 75th birthday,
William Howard Taft, then president of the United States, lauded the guest as "the greatest living American writer and novelist."

Mr. Howells returned a few weeks ago from Savannah, Ga., where he had spent the winter. While there he had been stricken with influenza and never had fully recovered
from its effects.

Has Two Children

With Mr. Howells at the time of his death which occurred shortly after midnight were his daughter,
Mildred and son, William Mead Howells, both of this city. Besides them he is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Achille G. L'Esperance, translator for the Canadian house of commons, and Miss Aurelia Howells, also of this city, and a brother, S. D. Howells of Washington.

Funeral services will be held at the church of the Ascension here at 10:30 tomorrow. Burial will be in Cambridge, Mass., where much of Mr. Howells' literary work was performed.

Was the dean of American letters; poet, essayist, dramatist and editor, as well as a writer of fiction.

Publishes 71 Volumes

Beginning his first book, "Poems of Two Friends," just before the Civil War, he has composed 71 volumes at the time of his death, besides acting as editor of various publications crossing the ocean 18 times in search of material for his novels, and writing essays, criticisms and magazine articles.

Born in Martin's Ferry, Ohio, in 1837, he served his literary apprenticeship
as a compositor, reporter and editor
in his father's newspaper.

Hair Often Ruined By Careless Washing

Soap should be used very carefully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is mulsified coconut oil shampoo (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonsfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy, and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified coconut oil shampoo at any pharmacy; it's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.

How a "Hunch" Prevented A $5,000 Robbery—Told By a Janesville Woman

Lots of people entertain that mental condition termed "hunch." In the parlorance of the street some people "follow" them and again, some don't. Either way, one jumps into the hunch, which brings us to the following:

Mrs. H. W. Valentine, wife of a Saxon Engineering company expert, had a "hunch" Saturday night.

She followed it and today recovers in the possession of $1,500 in diamonds and about $1,500 in silver coins. Otherwise, the Janesville police would be sending out circulars describing a list of rings, pendants, and pins and expensive adornments for the scenery of a dining room.

But let Mrs. Valentine tell about it.

Kept Thinking of Rings.

"Left our home which is at 366 Benton Avenue a little before 8 o'clock and went into a neighbor's house on the other side a few minutes when I thought about my rings and things which I had left on my dresser. There was nobody home. I kept thinking about the stones but tried to forget them recalling past experiences when I had been away and had left them home. However they popped up in my mind so much I just had to go home. You see I had a hunch."

"I had only gotten outside when I noticed a light in the kitchen. I knew I had none. I went on the porch and unlocked the door and stepped inside. As I did the kitchen light flashed out and there was a banging of chairs and I heard the prowler leave through the basement door.

Prowler Entering Bedroom

"He was just entering my bedroom when I stepped into the hall. The

R. Rands were newly-weds. More than a week ago Dick had just been sent to Clivedale to be the local manager of the Hercules Automobile Company.

"Well, Betty, how about some supper?" said Dick as he threw himself in a chair after a strenuous afternoon by the police.

The facts are a source of annoyance to the police, Chief Morrissey declares.

He drew a lesson from the Saturday night event.

The Chief's Statement

"Had the department been notified immediately of this attempt the chances were in our favor for the arrest of the prowler. You tell us it was shortly after 8 o'clock. Well, at that time there would be few persons on the street in that neighborhood. Those who had business downtown would be likely to be returning home so early. Likewise it would not be likely to be returning home so early. With this condition the department could have combed the neighborhood and picked up and held all persons who could not give a satisfactory explanation of their presence there."

Moral: Tell the police.

Ditto: Follow your hunches.

This Kid Knows What He Wants; Can't Be Stopped

Dick Weststrate, sentenced to 10 years in Waupun by Judge H. L. Maxfield in municipal court here on Nov. 5, 1914 after pleading guilty to a malicious assault, has been placed on parole by the state board of control. The guest will be heard at Madison with a number of applications on May 25.

Weststrate was 18 when he committed his attack on a 7 year old girl at a North River swimming house where he lived.

He told the court he had lost all trace of his parents whom he had left in Kentucky after trouble with his father. He had come to the United States from Holland at the age of four.

Again, a sentence of ten years from the Municipal court here. Patrick Fanning, a farmhand, was sent to the state prison for one year by Judge George Grimm, when Fanning pleaded guilty to a similar charge a few months ago.

SHOWS IMPROVEMENT

The condition of Nick Sarris, Greek sectionman, who received a fractured skull in a fight with a countryman near Milton, Jackson last week is much better, considering the nature of his injury. Mercy hospital authorities reported today.

There is a double advantage in the use of these special steels in a Maxwell.

The light weight decreases the burden on the engine and their strength provides endurance.

They have been important factors in the success of Maxwell the world over, in its ever-increasing friendships, in its great growth.

Nearly 400,000 Maxwells are now in use. You cannot motor even in a foreign land, without meeting them.

S. S. WORKERS MEET IN MILTON JUNCTION

Rock county Sunday school workers are holding their annual convention at Milton Junction today. There from this city will hold offices in the county organization of the Rock county Sunday school workers. President: Mrs. E. O. O'Brien, secretary: E. C. Jones, district president: Misses E. Lenore Cassford and Mary Barker, divisional superintendents of children's departments.

Those from this city who were selected to take part in the program which is in charge of Mr. Hocking are: L. A. Markham, Dr. F. T. Richards, the Misses Mrs. O. D. Jeffries and Mrs. Mary Barker, Mrs. D. A. O'Neil and E. J. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Olson, Mesdames H. M. Fries, and L. G. Catchpole, Miss Lucy Granger and Miss Phoebe Lamphier were also in attendance at the meeting.

ADD GLOOMY STUFF

James Gillespie, city hall keeper, had a bad night's sleep last night, or something. Anyway, today he changed his bad weather prediction by sending word to the 20th instant of May 15. So far he occupies the post of honor in the school of prognosticators, although hard pushed by Poormaster Asa Anderson.

$47,000 of $90,000 Needed for New Addition Is Pledged.

At a meeting of the board of directors of Mercy hospital, held at the Myers hotel this noon, it was decided to finance immediate construction of the hospital by negotiating loans locally.

With the addition to the new hospital was completed there was a deficit of $20,000," explained W. H. Dougherty after the meeting. "This was borrowed in equal amounts of the four banks then doing business in the city. It was the large development of the city. It was decided to put a fourth story over the entire length of the building, and this necessitated many changes in plans. Doctors Give $6,000.

The total cost of this additional work was $70,000, which, together with the $20,000 borrowed at the banks, left $90,000 to be raised in some way to meet immediate construction costs. Janeville doctors have agreed to finance $2,000 of this amount. $10,000 has been made available from other sources. This leaves $43,000 which must be immediately raised by local loans to pay off the contractors who are now building the additions. It is impossible to finance this amount by campaign because of the fact that the contractors expect to have this $43,000 raised within the next two or three days.

Building Is Crowded.

"Everything is being done to give Janeville a splendid hospital. At present there is no room for over crowded that many people are being turned away without service. This condition must be remedied at once. There is no more important institution in the community than the hospital, and should receive the sympathetic and practical support of every citizen."

COOKSVILLE

[By Gazette Correspondent.]

Cooksville, May 11.—Harry Norby had the misfortune to break his arm while cranking his car last week.

The car, driven by Gustafson, while helping Lars Larson move last week, ran away. The car can strafe a post and both fell down, skinning their legs some, but no other damage was done.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Porter came over from Evansville last Wednesday night, made some garden for Sue Porter, and went back Thursday evening.

Mrs. Sanford Soverhill and Mrs. Mrs. Soverhill were callers in this village Wednesday night.

Members of the school went to Eagle last Thursday afternoon to participate in the spelling contest. Beth Boyle won third place.

Mr. and Mrs. Acheson, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Brown, Evansville, were callers at Mrs. Rice's last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Deerfield, took dinner with Mrs. Savage Sunday.

The play "The Goose Creek Line" given by the school's society last Friday evening, was very good. The church was crowded. We noticed people from Janeville, Evansville and Stoughton, and the surrounding country smiling loud at what was said. By special request, the play will be given in Fulton on Tuesday evening of this week.

ASKS $5,000 FROM DAIRY PLANT FOR HUSBAND'S DEATH

Charging that because the Bowmar Dairy company at its plant at Clinton failed to live up to the state law, which calls for the arranging of a curtain to avoid drafts in all wash rooms of dairy plants when men have to work in intense heat, the husband, William C. Cleland, caught a chill and died in three days. Death Cleland, through her attorney, Arthur Kern, sued for $5,000.

In the papers filed in the suit in circuit court here, it is brought out that December 1, 1928, when working at the Clinton plant amid steam and hot water, stripped down and his arms bare to the shoulders, when a door was suddenly thrown open admitting a gust of icy air, he suffered a immediate attack of a severe shaking, she says. As a result, it is stated in the documents the man died on December 11, despite all medical attention.

METHODISTS TO ELECT TWO NEGRO BISHOPS

[By ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Charging that because the Bowmar Dairy company at its plant at Clinton failed to live up to the state law, which calls for the arranging of a curtain to avoid drafts in all wash rooms of dairy plants when men have to work in intense heat, the husband, William C. Cleland, caught a chill and died in three days. Death Cleland, through her attorney, Arthur Kern, sued for $5,000.

In the papers filed in the suit in circuit court here, it is brought out that December 1, 1928, when working at the Clinton plant amid steam and hot water, stripped down and his arms bare to the shoulders, when a door was suddenly thrown open admitting a gust of icy air, he suffered a immediate attack of a severe shaking, she says. As a result, it is stated in the documents the man died on December 11, despite all medical attention.

This day in 1854, Ottmar Mergenthaler was born in Germany. He came to America before he was of age and worked as a jeweler. There he invented and perfected the linotype machine which is in universal use in newspaper and printing offices in the world, and has revolutionized the making of newspapers. Other machines of the same type and based on the same principle have followed and they are now an indispensable adjunct of all newspapers.

PREPARE FOR MEMORIAL DAY.

This year Memorial Day has a greater significance than ever. The men who wore the blue and in whose honor the day of memorial was established, are fast joining their comrades who have preceded them to the other side. When Stonewall Jackson, mortally wounded, was dying, he said to his men, "Let us cross the river and rest in the shade of the trees." So it has been with the men in blue, who have gone over to rest in the shade of Eternity's trees. But we have other men, too, who are to be remembered on Memorial Day. They fought in the Spanish-American war and upheld the honor and glory of Janesville and Rock county in the war with the Central powers to preserve the nation from European domination. To these we should give our attention also on a day set apart for the decoration of graves. Though they be buried in France, they are ours, and all the soil they occupy over there is sacred to us.

Let us not forget.

CANADA AND THE UNITED STATES.

For 106 years we have lived in peace and harmony with our neighbor, Canada. There have been 3,000 miles of border without forts or sentinels. No passports were needed, no passengers to and from the countries have been harried by officials, and only the most casual of customs inspection has been necessary as a usual thing. We have had slight differences now and then, but no cruisers or battleships have been needed on the great lakes to keep the peace or to uphold the national honor of either the United States or Canada. A gunboat of an archaic type, a revenue cutter or two, a patrol boat to look after smugglers or uphold the fishing laws, have constituted the navies of the two countries. The relations between Canada and the United States, the long friendship and comity, form one of the most remarkable examples of neighborly nations in history. Except for the few days of the Fenian raids, 50 years ago, there has never been a suggestion of a call to arms.

Therefore, the appointment of a minister from the Dominion to represent that country in the diplomatic corps at Washington, and our representation at Ottawa by an envoy, is a matter of international congratulation. The future of Canada, in spite of the differences in government, is closely linked with that of the United States. There is a common language and the same freedom of thought and action in both countries. Canada is a part of the British empire only by the sturdiest of threads, mostly sentimental, and forms an empire in itself.

OPEN FIELD FOR PRESIDENT.

With nearly all the primaries over and the state conventions held for the election of delegates to the republican national meeting at Chicago, no man has even a long lead with instructed delegates. Gen. Wood can number but 119, and Senator Johnson 102, pledged to the last ditch. There are 431 uninstructed delegates, and these men are certain to name the next candidate for president. Who he is, where he is from, is still a matter of conjecture. Senator Polk Dexter has the 14 from Washington, Senator Harding the 39 from Ohio, and Wisconsin has 24 for La Follette for anything he may want or ask. There are other scattering votes. We may expect Pennsylvania to vote for Knox, Illinois and Iowa with a few scattering give Governor Lowden 71.

The surprising feature of the whole contest is the position in the race taken by Herbert Hoover. Behind Hoover is the great popular vote which does not follow any political dictation and is independent of party alliance and party domination. In the straw vote conducted by the Literary Digest, Hoover is running neck and neck with Hiram Johnson. Wisconsin has given Hoover an extraordinarily large vote. It is large enough to make the politicians of the party take active notice of the trend of public thought. At this minute the only real popular outburst is for Hoover, but it is a grave question whether he will be acceptable to the men who will finally decide the president.

VICTIM OF A VAIN DELUSION.

Wisconsin is indifferently interested in the socialist national convention which has adjourned at New York after adopting a platform and nominating Eugene V. Debs for president.

But the interest of Wisconsin is in the attitude of its leader of socialist activities in the state. Mr. Berger claimed he was still a member of congress, and he begged that the program suggested that the socialist party be absorbed in other movements and cease to exist as a separate entity, be not carried out. They listened to his voice and will continue as a separate organization.

It is impossible for the socialist to get away from Karl Marx and the dictatorship of the proletariat. Berger, declaring for a peaceful revolution, added that if the "assaults on the socialist party continued it would mean the necessity of taking direct action."

"Direct action" is the overthrow of the govern-

JUST FOLKS

CALLING THE DOCTOR.

I marvel at the courage of the folks in days gone by. They used to see their loved ones ill and never thought they'd die. They let them coughing through the night and hear them moan in pain, And sweetly tell them with a smile they'd soon be well again!

It had to be a desperate case with little chance to win.

Before they'd think that it was time to call the doctor in.

When the wise physician got a call to someone's bed, He'd count it lucky not to find his patient almost dead. He knew that an urgent call—be faced with a case for sure.

Which home-brewed herbs and poultices possessed no power to cure!

When folks called the doctor in, in that glad long ago,

"Twas safe to bet the patient's tide of life was ebbing low.

It may be that I fret too much and over-worry, too.

But I can't wait for doctors as the old folks used to do.

Just let a doctor show himself, and let a youngster sight.

And I don't rest until I have the doctor standing by:

It may be just a stomach ache, but I don't care for that—

I want the best physician I can get right off the bat!

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT

WHY I DON'T WANT TO BE PRESIDENT.

I want to attend to my own business. I want to keep my history to myself. I want not to wear a plug.

I don't want to be a hero one day and a zero the next.

I have a wife and family to support!

I am not very fond of ocean travel.

I have troubles enough of my own right now.

I am a poor correspondent, and don't like to write notes.

I can't spare the time from my column writing.

WHY WOMEN SHOULD VOTE.

(Announcement of a Wisconsin lady.)

"Because of progressive action in protecting the birds of Illinois, I announce my intention of supporting Frank O. Lowden."

"What," asks an economist, "is the greatest cause of alimony?"

We are surprised. The greatest cause of alimony, dear reader, is matrimony.

If we were a poet we could get a rhyme out of that.

FIREFMEN DON'T FORGET THE NOZZLE.

It's anxiety to be first on the scene of the fire. The Firemen's Protective department, of which the members were proud, inadvertently left the nozzle to the fire hose at the station, in responding to the first alarm in weeks. The department arrived at the fire in ample time, but by the time the nozzle was secured the roof of the residence of Mrs. R. McClain was burned off.

OPINIONS OF OTHERS

A great many editors not caring very much to express any very pronounced views on the bonfire question, have nevertheless made remarks to making the congress and its reluctance to offer the service men who have many votes or reluctant taxpayers who also have many votes. Mr. Wilson would appear to be rather certain of endorsement.

But it will be noted that the president asked the democrats not merely to support his own position on the treaty, but "to condemn the Lodge reservations." Unquestionably the republican convention at Chicago will endeavor to go to the very opposite, namely "to commend the Lodge reservations." Mr. Wilson considers the Senate of Knox spoke the truth, the day when he frankly admitted that reservations "do not Americanize." The Pennsylvania senator made it easier for Mr. Wilson to take a clear cut issue.

But there is one weakness in Mr. Wilson's course which did not escape comment here today. While the president rejects the Lodge reservations, he does not indicate that a program like the Hitchcock reservations would be accepted. He leaves the inference that he still wants the treaty and covenant to be endorsed without the crossing of a "T" or the dotting of an "I."

Notwithstanding the advice and suggestion of many of his friends the president has throughout his course which did not escape comment here today. While the president rejects the Lodge reservations, he does not indicate that a program like the Hitchcock reservations would be accepted. He leaves the inference that he still wants the treaty and covenant to be endorsed without the crossing of a "T" or the dotting of an "I."

And then again, maybe the Martians suspect that our profiteers were trying to sell them something. —Saint Paul Pioneer Press.

It seems that the upholders don't more than get one in lashed to the must than another bobs up.

—El Paso Herald.

WISCONSIN TEACHERS LEAVE SCHOOLS.

Menomonee, Wis.—With people parading the streets in overalls as a protest against the high cost of living no one should be astonished to learn that Wisconsin teachers are leaving the schools because they are unable to earn a living there, say officers of the Wisconsin Teachers Association.

Reporters from Mayville say that last year nearly every teacher left the schools for positions that would pay them enough to meet the greatly increased cost of rent, food, clothing and other necessities. This year there promises to be a repetition of the exodus. At any rate, thirteen of the state's 1,000 teachers who had been engaged in the bi-partisan conferences which were broken up when Senator Johnson and Senator Borah threatened to bolt the party, if Senator Lodge compromised on article ten.

With the Hiram Johnson movement growing stronger every day, the republicans have been in a quandary about the treaty plank in their platform. They cannot consistently endorse the California senator's position and at the same time approve of the Lodge reservations. In a sense Mr. Wilson makes it a bit easier for the republicans by his pronouncement against the Lodge reservations. Had he waited until the republican convention was over, he might have found the republicans endorsing the Johnson viewpoint and retreating from the leadership of Senator Lodge in order to face the president in the campaign with a solid republican opposition.

The republican leaders will be quick to seize upon the Lodge reservations as the basis of their campaign with the hope that Senator Johnson will not repeat the admission of Senator Knox and point out that he doesn't want the treaty even with these reservations. It's Senator Johnson's letter to the president's letter to the Oregon democrats is leveled for the time being. Mr. Hoover, who stood for reservations. The Oregon newspapers with few exceptions have favored the league of nations from the start. The Oregon Journal conducted a poll which showed an overwhelming sentiment for the treaty without any reservations whatsoever. So far as a test is concerned on the unqualified adoption of the treaty, no better battle ground could have been selected by Mr. Wilson.

But before the San Francisco convention comes around, there will be another pronouncement from Mr. Wilson. The letter to the Oregon democrats is not the last word nor the kind of a plank the democrats will adopt. They will take their stand for some reservations, notably those proposed by Senator Hitchcock and agreed upon by a majority of the democrats and endorsed by Mr. Wilson himself. On the face of it, the letter to the Oregon democrats looks like a reversal of Mr. Wilson's return to his original position of uncompromising opposition to any change in the treaty or league. Eventually he will be found supporting reservations "that do not destroy the treaty" and condemning the Lodge reservations on the ground that they are destructive.

There is a noticeable renewal of confidence and hope in white house quarters as Senator Johnson gains ground. Senator Knox's speech really demands that he bring out the letter to the Oregon democrats.

DIARY OF AN ENGAGED GIRL

AUNT MOLLY GIVES LINDSEY THE TULIP DEGREE.

I have just been reading "Zuleika Dobson," one of Baughman's novels. I liked it. Zuleika, dear queer creature, reminded me of myself in many ways—she certainly was just as fluttery. But then I am always imagining that I am like different heroines in my favorite novels, so I'm not worried.

I wish I had been born in a more romantic age, this matter of fact one that it was my fate to come to life in does not suit me at all. Sometimes, today is over, and those times often, when I feel like this, I steal away from everyone, and close my eyes and "play at being some beautiful lady of the Louis XV court with languishing eyes and mincing manner and, above all, indolent, quiet, and adored." And those are the days of my soul, romantic love, when I've studied the hearts and eyes of their beloved women and died for love—which they certainly don't do now. Why, if I were to suggest that Jack did not love me, she would be within striking distance of old wives' will to do her just about pass out in fits of modern laughter. Thus have the times changed. Or else he's suggesting playing a round of golf with him. That's how he takes my deep emotions, always.

No romanticism is dead. Our very mothers discourage it. Mine invariably tells me "no to moon" when she comes upon me, lost in thought, and with my head in my hands. Such moments I am sure are revealing the old philosophy or other, and it is maddening to be swooped down on and worried. I never will get used to it.

Aunt Molly was here for dinner this evening. She told me that I was looking rather "tired." I really felt quite interesting, for as a rule

DRIVING DOWN TO JERICHO

The human machine is one of the internal combustion types, never old. Most of its trouble arises from deficiencies in the combustion chambers and many drivers damage their machines by failing to give intelligent attention to the cooling system. The greatest factor in the cooling system is the fan, which, when given but half the service one has a right to expect, is driving at maximum speed instead of driving at optimum.

The old boat can amble along without strain, at say, 26 miles an hour. You have not given the "tender" car you would have given it, perhaps, if you faith in reincarnation were not so strong. But she is still capable of spurts of as much as 33 miles an hour. Some day is always trying to pass you on the road, so for three thousand passengers you are rated to be passed: (1) dust, (2) road visibility, and (3) personal pride. You can go beyond optimum speed, but only by drawing on your reserve, which, of course, is limited. But these are piping times, even the service one has a right to expect is driving at maximum speed instead of driving at optimum.

QUESTION AND ANSWERS.

Just how should sulphur and molasses be taken and in what quantities? (A. A. C.)

SYRUP.—Honorable, or if grand-mama is watching, take it with a solemn wide-mouthed air. Sulphur is a mere physis, nothing more, nothing less, nothing less, nothing less. The informed good the meso does lies in the psychological influence of the granny who pours it down you.

FEAST.—Taste.

I am eating yeast, I take brand, which is the only kind we can get here on the prairie. Is it all right? (R. R. S.)

YESTERDAY.—Any yeast suitable for baking is suitable for internal use as a remedy. You fail to mention the condition for which you are taking it. Somehow people have acquired the delusion that it is a sort of panacea. However, its use is limited to very favorable conditions, though it is harmless enough.

Just Common Bran.

I want to know whether the wheat bran you recommend for constipation is the kind we get when we take our wheat to mill and have it ground, or the "prepared" bran (Raleigh). The prepared bran probably means some elegantly decorated cardboard and a fancy price. The bran mill removes from the wheat is right. It removes so many poisons, acquire prejudices against the natural or original food article and imagine it must have some mysterious properties. It is a good bran in fancy packages before it is fit to eat. One finds, for instance, scores of country people actually feeding on fancy packages, which come in fancy packages and denying the infants the fresh milk produced right on the premises. Those do love mystery, even chewing gum.

Heart and Home Problems

BY ELIZABETH THOMPSON.

Letters may be addressed to Mrs. Thompson, in care of the Gazette.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young girl 23 years old, and have been keeping company with a young man 21. We have gone together over a year now and he has always said he cared for me. Now he has been out of town for some time. At first he wrote often, and then they went out of touch. I have written to him, but he writes and squeaks and she depreciates in your own estimation, if you could only understand some poor girl and buy yourself a brand new one. He hit some girl, and then he hit another, and when he did his letters would be from a mere friend.

I waited a week last time before answering his letter and when I did it was just a friendly one. I thought perhaps it would help, but he didn't seem to have waited a week now and had no answer.

I love him dearly and couldn't stand to lose him. He is the only real sweetheart I ever had and the only one I will ever have. I think she knows how much I care, and is too sure of me.

I want to write him a cross letter and tell him how neglectful and horrid he is, but I don't want him to think I am easy either. I have a lot of other chances, and he is too good, but I don't care for them. I only want him. He will soon be back. Should I just let it pass or should I try to make up?

I think he loves me but I don't think he is sure of it himself. Please help me to do the right thing.

THANK YOU.

There is only one thing that will bring the young man back and that is silence on your part. Do not write to him again unless you hear from him. A cross letter would show that you care. When he returns, write to him, you could go to any friend, but do not appear eager to have him your sweetheart again. He has probably grown away from you for the time being, but when he comes back his old interest will revive if you do not force him.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I know a fellow with whom I would like to go. I was with him once and since he has never asked me to go out, I would like him as a friend. I don't know if he would care for me. He won't show it. How can I gain his friendship and see if he cares for me?

LOVELY BROWN EYES.

The young man does not care for you or no would care to go with you again. I am afraid about him. No effort on your part will gain his friendship since you have failed to interest him the time you were together.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a boy 19 years old and am in love with a

DALTON OF CARDS SIGNS TO COACH GREEN BAY TEAMS

"Motsey" Dalton, star guard and captain of the Lakota Cardinals basketball team, has signed up to become athletic director of the West High school at Green Bay starting this fall. At the present time he is coaching at Juneau High school and teaching commercial subjects.

In conjunction with the school work at Green Bay, "Motsey" will handle the basketball of the Northern Paper Mills in that city, the team which nosed out the Cards by one game for the professional basketball championship of Wisconsin.

Besides it has procured post of coach for the crack football team of the Green Bay Packers, the eleven which had such a fuss with the Beloitans last November.

This new arrangement will probably mean that Dalton, a Janesville lad, may not be with the Cardinals at all next season. But in the event a professional basketball team is formed, as is now planned, he will be seen here in a Green Bay uniform.

Olympics to Practice At Fourth Ward Tonight

The Olympic baseball club will practice tonight at the Fourth Ward park at 6:30. While the team is idle Sunday, they are continually practicing and rounding into shape for Saturday's game when they will play the fast Beloit Fairies.

The Junior Fairies lost to the All-Stars by a small margin and expect game to give the Olympics a good, scrappy

MANAGERS FAVOR PRO BASKETBALL

Denning of Cardinals and McCarthy of Fairies Strongly in Support of Wisconsin State Circuit.

BY FRANK SINCLAIR

Professional basketball in Wisconsin and the possibility of forming a league of its own by the Badger cities next season is given a big boost by the approval just given to the plan by the managers of the Janesville Lakota Cardinals and the Beloit Fairies. The scheme, first suggested by Frank H. Heath, managing director of the Field of Love, is fast finding support throughout the state. This has come the more especially during the last week following the decision of the officials of the Central Wisconsin Athletic Union to throw basketball out of the list of recognized sports next year because of the great prevalence of professionalism marking the game.

Wisconsin a Basketball Center. Formation of a professional basketball league has been advocated by Ed Mac, Green Bay, and Janesville sportsmen mainly because it is believed that it will be better to place the sport on a strictly professional basis and organize a league than to let it drift along the lines of the last few years. This state is one of the best basketball centers in the country with the hearty support of the fans.

Commenting on the plan, D. F. McCarthy, manager of the Fairbanks-Morse five of Beloit says:

"I like very much the idea of a basketball league in Wisconsin and I think that suggestion along this line will be followed out. Would like to suggest that the sporting writers and managers from the cities named in the Gazette be brought together about the 1st of June and definite plans made for the meeting in the proper amount of publicity. I think the Wisconsin basketball teams are the class of the country and I note the A. U. now suggests that basketball be taken off the list of controlled sports, we want to make the Wisconsin influence in basketball felt."

Handicapped Here.

These same thoughts are felt by Joe Denning, manager of the Janesville Cards. His only worry is that this city has no building large enough to accommodate the crowds of 500 or more that an organized basketball league would attract. However, by the time the league is ready to jump at the firing gun, it is felt that the project of the joint stock companies and community buildings together with an amateur might be somewhat along this kind of sport should prove to the board of supervisors and the officials of Janesville that under some thing is done to provide places for clean sports and athletic fields, leaving behind the others no matter how fast and capable our sporting talent may be.

The cities suggested in the plan are Janesville, Beloit, Fond du Lac, Green Bay, New London, Two Rivers, Menasha, Appleton and Sheboygan.
